His cheery honk raises a smile

Imagine my surprise the other day when a lorry driver 'beeped' his horn at me and shouted, "Phoar! Look at the tits on that!"

With so many miserable faces in the world these days, wouldn't it be nice if a few more people were as friendly as this a little more often.

Miss B. Idiot
Stoke-on-Trent

The other evening whilst driving home from the pub, along the pavement, I ran down and killed by neighbour's wife. I later suggested to my neighbour that he might like to contribute towards the cost of repairing the front of my car. Imagine my surprise when he refused, and punched me squarely in the face. He has since been rude and unpleasant to me several times. I wonder if other readers have had similar 'neighbour problems'?

In response to A. Williams' comments on the danger that dry tea bags could cause to young children if swallowed, I believe that responsible manufacturers are now attaching a piece of string and a paper tag to their tea bags to facilitate their retrieval should they accidentally be swallowed.

Cigarette lighter scandal

What a con these so-called 'refillable' gas cigarette lighters are. My husband tried to refill his from our gas cooker, but after a couple of hours gave up and lit a match instead. In the resulting explosion he was killed instantly and our fitted kitchen was damaged beyond repair.

They say cigarettes can damage your health - but what about the dangers of using cigarette lighters?

Mrs. J. Chernock

Recently voted Britain's flamboyantest feature

Returning from holiday with my wife, we stopped at a petrol station. I asked the attendant to "fill her up" while I went off to use the facilities. Unfortunately the alert young attendant filled up my tank with petrol, and not my wife, but could I have a prize anyway?

* From The Daily Mirror, 1st October, 1987

I recently misread an 'OFFICE TO LET' sign as reading 'OFFICE TOILET', and relieved myself through the letter-box. I wonder if any other readers can better this rather contrived toilet story?

Mrs P. Nilewart
Leeds

Whilst at work a few weeks ago my boss asked me to post some letters. As I was in dire need of the toilet, I decided to pay a visit on my way to the post box.

It was only when the postman asked me why I was urinating in the postbox that I realised I had flushed the letters down the lavatory. I still find time to laugh at the incident on my way to the local job centre.

These TV ads are a scandal

What a con these T.V. advertisements are. I bought a can of lager in order to "refresh the parts other beers cannot reach". But it didn't. It gave me wind.

E. Pandleton

What a con these 'oven gloves' are. I recently poured a casserole into mine. Two hours later I returned to find the casserole uncooked, and a terrible mess on the kitchen floor.

Peter Ring
Lancing, West Sussex

I agree entirely with Mr. G. Ivy of Wessex — what a con these 'potato crisps' are! Do these 'crisp' manufacturers seriously expect us to be taken in and not notice that the bags are half full of air?

Come on, crisp manufacturers. Just who do you think you're fooling!

G. Armstrong

No smoke without fire

My dad, a heavy smoker, was determined that I wouldn't follow in his footsteps. So when he caught me smoking at the age of 14 he forced me to eat an ashtray full of cigarette ends!

It worked — and I haven't smoked a cigarette since, although I am often thrown out of pubs for going around the tables and eating the contents of the ashtrays.

Is it any wonder these soft drink manufacturers continue to make such vast profits when we pay forty odd pence for a bottle of lemonade, only to find that half the bubbles float to the surface and escape as soon as you open it? It's high time soft drink manufacturers gave the customers a fair deal, and stopped charging us for bubbles we never get the chance to drink.

Stamp out money wasting

Why do sorting offices always print their postmark over the stamps on envelopes? How infuriating. Surely it would lead to great savings if the stamps were unmarked and could be used again when replying to correspondence.

Our naked neighbour was nude

A friend and I were delighted to spot a young lady sunbathing in the nude in a garden near to ours. Unfortunately however, she was lying face down.

We sat and watched her for over an hour, hoping that she would turn over, but she didn't. As you can imagine, neither of us saw the fanny side.

Train wait led to nose breakage

I suffered an embarrassing moment while waiting for a train at our local station. I decided to pass the time by reapplying my lipstick. When I stood up to check it in the mirror, there was no sign of the make-up on my lips. I soon realised why.

The lips I had applied the make-up to were not mine, but belonged to a burly labourer who was sitting next to me! My blushes were saved by a fast-thinking station porter who dragged me unconscious from the waiting room after the gentleman concerned had broken my nose.

Mrs. D. Humphries
Liverpool

As it was Sunday and the post office was closed, I offered my neighbour, who is unemployed, 30p to deliver a letter to my sister in Devon (12p more than the going rate of 18p first class). However, he flatly refused.

Is it any wonder that there are so many unemployed, when people like him are simply not interested in the idea of work.

Mr B. Evans

Put an end to this weekend week ending

Isn't it annoying that we spend weekends recovering from the week at work. If weekends came at the beginning of the week (rather than at the end), then we could thoroughly enjoy the weekend, and spend the working week recovering from it.

So come on, calendar manufacturers. Let's see weekends at the beginning of the week instead of at the end.

My husband is very short sighted and recently mistook the coal bunker in our back yard for our youngest daughter. Shortly after he'd dropped it off at school that morning, the headmaster telephoned to say that our daughter was refusing to come in from the playground.

Knob trouble lands hubby in hospital

My husband, mistaking the local remand home for a TV repair shop, strode in and asked a group of youths if they'd come and have a look at his knob, which hadn't been turning on properly.

I visited him in hospital yesterday where he remains in a critical condition, and has so far been unable to see the funny side of the incident.

MONEY MATTERS

FINANCE & INVESTMENT
ADVICE with Fenton Burke

Since buying British Telecom shares last year I have had a good few extra telephones installed in my house at a cost of around £3960. Equipment rental on top of my regular phone bills now comes to around £2680 a quarter.

How much of BT's profit from this extra business will be passed on to me as a share holder?

M. Hughes
Maldstone

* Your money is certainly well invested, Mr. Hughes, and you can sit back and use your telephones in the knowledge that all the profit which BT make will of course be passed on to you, as a shareholder. Last year they made around £2 billion, so you should look forward to receiving a cheque for about a tenth of that amount, depending on exactly how many shares you own, in the near future.

I believe the water authorities have a nerve charging 'water rates'. What would the legal position be if I were to charge the water authority for all the sewage which I put into their system?

I believe that sewage is 're-processed' at sewage plants and then sold afterwards, at massive profits. Would it be possible to sell my sewage to a private contractor, thus keeping these profits for myself?

A. Squire
Bromsgrove, Worcs.

* The Government is currently considering privatising the water authorities, and selling sewage at a profit will be high on their agenda once they come under private control. But paying water rates does not oblige you to flush sewage into the toilet. You may keep it, or dispose of it by private sale. Untreated sewage is a rich source of gas, and could be of value when North Sea gas deposits run out.

I recently got a job, and have been paid around £200 per week ever since.

Where would you suggest is the safest and most advisable place to keep my money now that I am earning larger amounts?

D. Beresford
Berkshire

* Ideally you should look for a strong metal box or a suitcase with locks on it in which to keep large sums of money. However, you can get quite a lot of money into smaller boxes, biscuit tins etc., by taking it to the bank and asking them to change it into large denominations. For example, they will swap ten £5 notes for one £50 note, etc.

After the sale of British Airways, Telecom and B.P., etc., why don't the Government sell off Sam Fox's lts? I'm sure her stripped assets would prove an attractive investment to the man in the street. I would certainly have a very close look at her prospectus, providing of course it was fully illustrated.

Brian Gling
Gosforth, Newcastle

I went to the shops with £25. I spent £1.64 in the bakers, £2.11 in the butchers, and then paid £19.64 for groceries at the supermarket.

How much change should I have had?

P. Warwick
Lancaster

* You should have come home with £1.61 in your pocket.

HER LIFE IN DANGER!

EXCLUSIVE

A former Palace security chief has made a startling claim that the lives of the Royal Family, including the Queen herself, are in mortal danger. And Ted Pembleton, former head doorman at the Chesterfield Palace Theatre, is convinced that security and safety measures at Buckingham Palace are now at an all time low.

His warning comes only years after Michael Fagan's much publicised intrusion into the Queen's bedroom. And Pembleton believes that unless a major shake-up in safety measures at the Palace takes place, a senior member of the Royal Family could be killed.

BLAST

Mr. Pembleton has compiled a startling dossier of evidence to support his claims, and a copy of his report is already being examined by senior police officers at Scotland Yard. In it he lists a deadly catalogue of security short-falls and inadequate safety measures. These include:

- ★ BROKEN paving stones in nearby Buckingham Palace Road which could easily cause someone to trip and fall, especially in icy weather.

- ★ LOOSE stair carpets inside the Palace which could also lead to a nasty fall.

- ★ BUSY roads around the Palace with fast moving traffic and not enough safe crossing places.

- ★ LIMOUSINES without safety belts fitted to rear seats.

In an independent test carried out at Mr Pembleton's own expense, a shop dummy dressed as the Queen was badly damaged when it was placed in the rear seat of a car, with no seat belt, and driven into a wall at high speed. "I dread to think what would have happened if that had been the Queen herself sitting in that car", a sober faced Mr Pembleton told us afterwards.

ROCKET

Among the immediate improvements recommended in his report is the construction of a pedestrian footbridge across busy Buckingham Gate, allowing the Royal Family safe access to nearby shops. And he believes that urgent safety steps are also required in the Royal kitchens.

BOMBSHELL

"I am particularly worried about the safety of members of the Royal Family nipping into the kitchens to prepare a meal or a quick snack", he told us, singling out a long flex on a kettle for criticism. "If caught accidentally by a passer-by, this would cause the kettle to fall, and could lead to serious scalding". And Mr Pembleton expressed fears that a chip pan, if left unattended, could catch fire.

Former security chief blasts Palace safety measures

Ted Pembleton first made the news five years ago when his book, 'Rape and Murder at the Palace' was published. In it he suggested that the numerous security breaches reported in the press were just the tip of the iceberg, and that the vast majority of incidents at the Palace are simply covered up. Indeed, he put forward the theory that Ronald Biggs and the 'Great Train Robbery' gang planned their notorious raid from the safety of Buckingham Palace cellar.

STUN GRENADE

Pembleton also believes that 'Rambo' style gun enthusiasts have for many years used the Palace gardens as firing ranges, using silencers to disguise the noise and camouflage jackets to remain unseen. So far, the Ministry of Defence has refused to comment on Mr Pembleton's claim that American Cruise Missiles have already been deployed in the Palace grounds, and that on several occasions they have nearly blown up accidentally.

Princess Di, like the Queen, is a member of the Royal Family.

His book, priced £19.95, is no longer available in the shops; however Mr Pembleton asked us to point out that under no circumstances should water be poured onto a burning chip pan. "Turn off the heat, cover it with a damp cloth, and call the fire brigade", he told us.

MR. LOGIC

SUCH IS MY NAME, THEREFORE IT WOULD ONLY BE CORRECT TO MAKE AN ASSUMPTION THAT THIS COMIC STRIP IS IN SOME WAY ABOUT ME.

HE'S A PAIN IN THE ARSE!

THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SOCIAL SECURITY HAVE INFORMED ME THAT HAVING RECEIVED MY SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENT I AM NOW UNDER OBLIGATION TO RENDER MYSELF IN A STATE OF DRUNKENNESS.

SEE LAST ISSUE

I HAVE BEEN INTOXICATED BEFORE WITH ALCOHOL. AND AS I REMEMBER IT, IT WAS NOT AN INTELLECTUALLY REWARDING EXPERIENCE. RATHER UNPLEASANT AN EVENT IN ACTUAL FACT.

SEE *15 OR BIG HARD #2

PUBLIC HOUSE - HOUSE LICENCED TO SELL ALCOHOLIC LIQUOR. COLOQUIALISM - PUB.

GOOD DAY, I TRUST YOU ARE THE PUBLICAN, THE KEEPER OF THIS PUBLIC HOUSE?

YEAH...

...AND WHO THE FUCK DO YOU THINK YOU ARE, COMING NONCING INTO MY BAR AT QUARTER PAST THREE?!

I KNOW MYSELF TO BE LAWRENCE LOGIC, ENTERING YOUR PREMISES AT THIS TIME IN ORDER TO SAMPLE MEASURES OF YOUR INTOXICANTS. OBJECTIVE TO BECOME DRUNK. I REFER OF COURSE TO BEING OVERCOME BY LIQUOR, AS OPPOSED TO THE PAST PARTICIPLE OF 'DRINK'!

IT'S QUARTER PAST BLOODY THREE, NOW TURN AROUND AND BUGGER OFF!

I AM OFFERING TO PURCHASE SOME OF YOUR WARES, AS A SALESMAN YOU SEEM TO BEHAVE IN AN ILLOGICAL MANNER. SURELY IT IS YOUR TASK TO MAKE AVAILABLE YOUR GOODS FOR SALE AND NOT TO OPENLY DISCOURAGE CUSTOMERS - AS YOU APPEAR TO BE DOING AT THIS MOMENT - FROM BUYING SAID GOODS, I.E. BEVERAGES AND OTHER FORMS OF REFRESHMENT. THE CORRECT TIME IS SIXTEEN MINUTES PAST THREE O'CLOCK, AND NOT FIFTEEN AS YOU STATED.

ONE GOOD KICKING LATER...

WHAT AN ENLIGHTENING LECTURE ON THE LICENSING LAWS OF GREAT BRITAIN, HOWEVER, I AM SOMEWHAT CONFUSED BY THE ACCOMPANYING PHYSICAL ASSAULT.

APPARENTLY I MUST NOW FIND AN OFF LICENCE - AN ESTABLISHMENT LICENCED TO SELL ALCOHOL FOR CONSUMPTION OFF THE PREMISES

SO... GOOD AFTERNOON SIR, WHAT IS IT FOR YOU THEN, WINE?

THE SAME AS IT IS FOR ANYONE ELSE - FERMENTED GRAPE JUICE AS A DRINK, OR FERMENTED DRINK REMARKING IT MADE FROM OTHER FRUITS.

I WAS, ERM, JUST SUGGESTING THAT YOU MIGHT BE A WINE DRINKER, SIR.

THAT DEPENDS SURELY ON YOUR DEFINITION OF 'WINE DRINKER'. I AM INDEED A WINE DRINKER IF ANYONE WHO HAS CONSUMED WINE AT ANY STAGE IN THEIR LIFE IS TO BE CLASSIFIED AS SUCH, BUT INSTINCT TELLS ME YOU MAY HAVE A DIFFERING OPINION ON THIS SUBJECT, AM I CORRECT?

WHATEVER YOU SAY SIR, WHAT'S IT TO BE - GIN?

I WOULD IMAGINE THAT GIN IS TO BE WHAT IT ALWAYS HAS BEEN - A SPIRIT DISTILLED FROM GRAIN OR MALT AND FLAVOURED WITH JUNIPER BERRIES.

SO, HAVE YOU COME INTO MY SHOP TO BUY ANYTHING, OR JUST TO HAND OUT A FEW OF YOUR COCKTAIL RECIPES?

COCKTAIL - HORSE OF RACING STAMP BUT NOT THOROUGHbred, SOCIAL UPSTART, DRINK OF SPIRIT WITH BITTERS AND SUGAR.

PURCHASE IS INDEED THE OBJECT OF MY PRESENCE IN THIS ESTABLISHMENT. I MUST PURCHASE ALCOHOL WITH WHICH TO MAKE MYSELF DRUNK.

WELL SIR, YOU'VE COME TO THE RIGHT PLACE!

SOME TIME LATER...

VOMIT - EJECT FOOD ETC. FROM STOMACH THROUGH MOUTH; EJECT VIOLENTLY, BELCH FORTH. AWWW - MATTER VOMITED.

HURK!

SPLASH!

Ermm... ABSOLUTELY FASCINATING - I APPEAR TO HAVE LOST THE ABILITY TO APPLY SELF-RESTRAINT TO MY BLADDER-CONTROL AND I HAVE CONSEQUENTLY URINATED INVOLUNTARILY INSIDE MY TROUSERS.

WOULD YOU GET THAT JOB?

With 2.9 million people unemployed, give or take a million or two, getting a job is top of a lot of people's lists these days. And for many of them, the hardest part of getting a job is the dreaded INTERVIEW.

An awesome sight: the best picture of an interview panel that we could manage at short notice.

Here are a few questions that will help determine YOUR chances of success when you next go for a job interview. Just mark your answers A, B or C, then tot up your final score to show what your chances are of landing that job!

- What will you wear for the interview?
 - A comfortable but obscene printed T-shirt and jeans.
 - An outfit you bought in Oxfam.
 - Your Sunday best.
- To calm your nerves before the interview you need to do something. Would you:
 - Drink several lagers.
 - Take a couple of valium.
 - Do The Times crossword.
- Your appointment is for 2.45 pm. Would you arrive:
 - At 3.15, after the pub has closed.
 - A few minutes late to avoid waiting.
 - Ten minutes early.
- You go in for the interview and you are faced by three members of the interviewing panel. They are all standing as you enter. They now ask you to sit down. Would you:
 - Not do so, but walk over to a painting and spend several minutes adjusting the angle.
 - Move your chair around a bit before slumping into it and putting your feet up on the desk.
 - Do so immediately.
- You are offered a cup of coffee. Would you:
 - Clumsily knock it over the interviewing committee's table, soaking their lists of questions and their trousers.
 - Refuse it, and ask for something a bit stronger.
 - Accept it, and cleverly sip it at discreet intervals during the interview.
- The first interviewer is very unfriendly. Would you:
 - Punch him in the face.
 - Wave a finger at him across the table and tell him to 'watch it'.
 - Smilingly answer all his questions.
- The second interviewer is very friendly. Would you:
 - Plan for your families to go on holiday together.
 - Ask them round to your house for a drink.
 - Smilingly answer all his questions.
- You find the third interviewer rather attractive. Would you:
 - Ask them out for a drink that evening.
 - Wink and use subtle body language to make your feelings known.
 - Smilingly answer all their questions.
- You are asked about your former boss. Would you:
 - Say "I'd rather not talk about that bastard".
 - Say that you'd had a personality clash.
 - Mention your former employer's good points.
- You are asked about your hobbies and interests. Would you:
 - Boast about your reputation as a football hooligan and produce a scrap book of newspaper cuttings featuring your various court appearances.

- Say you like to go out on the beer most nights.
 - Mention that you play a little golf from time to time.
- You are asked to give some details of your "past experience". Would you:
 - Laugh like Sid James, nudge the interviewer, and proceed to make thinly veiled references to your past sexual activities.
 - Say you haven't had any experience.
 - Give a brief summary of any relevant work experience which you may have had.
 - You feel a build up of wind occurring during the interview. Would you:
 - Fart as loudly as possible and award yourself a mark out of ten.
 - Ask "whose farted?" in order to alleviate the blame before releasing it as quietly as possible.
 - Suppress it and hope that it goes away.
 - Finally, you are asked how much money you'd expect to earn if you got the job. Do you answer:
 - "How much do you three get?"
 - "£25,000 a year - plus perks".
 - "Whatever is the going rate for the job".
 - The interview is over. Do you:
 - Yawn as if the whole thing was a bore, and ask, "Well, do I get the job or what?"

- Exit swiftly into a broom cupboard, emerge again red faced and then leave through the right door.
- Shake hands and thank the interviewers for their courtesy.

HOW DID YOU DO?

A—1 point, B—2 points,
C—3 points.

40 OR OVER — Your prospects are excellent. All you have to do now is find a job vacancy....

30 to 39 — There's hope for you yet. Pick up a copy of the leaflet 'HOW TO GET A JOB EVEN THOUGH THERE AREN'T ANY' from your Job Centre or the local Job Club.

20 to 29 — Try the Y.T.S.

Less than 20 — Stay in bed.

HOPE FOR THE HOPELESS

No matter how well you do at an interview, you may still not get the job. Don't be disheartened. Remember, there are millions of other people who are unemployed, and none of them have got jobs either.

But there are certain ways of improving your chances. The following tips may help. Remember always to:

- ★ DRESS well.
- ★ ARRIVE in good time.
- ★ HAVE lots of qualifications and work experience.
- ★ OFFER each member of the panel twenty quid.

TOMMY 'BANANA' JOHNSON

HE'S GOT A BIG BANANA!

CD 137

HI EVERYBODY. I'M TOMMY 'BANANA' JOHNSON, AND THIS IS MY BIG BANANA

TODAY I'M PLAYING COWBOYS AND INDIANS, AND I'M USING MY BIG BANANA AS A HORSE

IT ALSO MAKES A TERRIFIC RIFLE. HOLD IT RIGHT THERE, REDSKINS!

THAT'S NOT A RIFLE. IT'S A BANANA! JUST BUGGER OFF 'TILL YOU, WE'RE NOT PLAYING WITH YOU

STUPID SOD!

NEVER MIND. I'LL GO AND PLAY BY THE LAKE. MY BANANA MAKES A PERFECT BOAT.

AHOY THERE SHIPMATES! MAKE WAY FOR A PIRATE SHIP, THE BIG BANANA!

GET LOST, JOHNSON. THE LAST TIME YOU PUT THAT BLOODY RIDICULOUS BANANA OF YOURS IN THE WATER YOU SANK ALL THE OTHER BOATS!

OH WELL, I HOPE NOBODY OBJECTS IF I SIT ON MY BANANA FOR A MOMENT

TOMMY, HAVE YOU SEEN OUR BALL ANYWHERE? WE CAN'T PLAY FOOTBALL WITHOUT IT

NO, BUT YOU'RE WELCOME TO USE MY BANANA AS A REPLACEMENT, ON ONE CONDITION: - YOU LET ME PLAY!

RIGHT, I'LL PASS IT TO YOU!

OH, FOR FUCK'S SAKE

I THINK WE'LL GIVE YOUR 'FOOTBANANA' A MISS IF IT'S ALL THE SAME WITH YOU TOMMY

LATER... NOW WHY DIDN'T I THINK OF THIS BEFORE? MY BANANA WOULD MAKE A BRILLIANT BOOMERANG!

HERE GOES!

TEN MINUTES LATER...

OH DEAR. IT LOOKS LIKE MY 'BANANA BOOMERANG' ISN'T COMING BACK

EXCUSE ME!

CAPTAIN UNRELIABLE

by
Nicholas Schwab

MEGATROPOLIS - HOME OF CAPTAIN UNRELIABLE - IS A CITY RANSOMED BY FEAR...

THE DREADED BLACK HAND TERRORIST GANG HAS AMBUSHED AN ARMY CONVOY AND STOLEN AN ATOMIC BOMB.....

UNDER TIGHT SECURITY POLITICIANS AND SENIOR POLICE OFFICERS GATHER IN THE MAYOR'S OFFICE...

COME IN GENTLEMEN - I HAVE NEWS OF THE GRAVEST IMPORTANCE!

WHAT IS IT MR. MAYOR?

LAST NIGHT I RECEIVED A DEMAND FOR ONE MILLION DOLLARS FROM THE BLACK HAND GANG OR THEY WILL USE THE STOLEN ATOMIC DEVICE TO DESTROY THE EAST SIDE OF OUR CITY!

THE FIVE O'CLOCK DEADLINE IS FAST APPROACHING AND I HAVE DECIDED TO GIVE IN TO THE TERRORISTS DEMANDS!

AT THIS MOMENT CAPTAIN UNRELIABLE IS SPEEDING ACROSS THE CITY TO TAKE THE RANSOM MONEY TO THE RENDEZVOUS! USING THE UNRELIAMOBILE HE...

AHEM!

WHISPER! WHISPER!

WELL ACTUALLY - HE'S USING THE BUS BECAUSE THE UNRELIAMOBILE HAS BROKEN DOWN!

HAS HE MADE CONTACT WITH THE TERRORISTS?

EEEN! I'M NOT EXACTLY SURE... THE RADIO LINK IS STILL BROKEN SO I LEFT A MESSAGE WITH HIS MOTHER!

WILL HE MAKE IT?

HE SHOULD.... HE DID SLEEP IN THIS MORNING... BUT... APART FROM THAT CARRY ON WHEN HE LEFT THE MONEY ON THE TRAIN... HE HAD LOADS OF TIME TO SPARE... AFTER I TOLD HIM WHERE TO GO AND ALL THAT!

IT'S FIVE NOW!

HELLO!

IT'S FOR YOU MR. MAYOR!

HELLO! MR. MAYOR? CAPTAIN UNRELIABLE HERE - WHAT TIME DID YOU WANT THAT MONEY DROPPING OFF AGAIN?

SEX! What is it? How do you do it? And how many people can do it at once? These are just some of the questions that we will be asking in our frank, forthright and revealing in-depth survey into the nation's number one pastime: SEX!

SEX

Today we use words like MAKE LOVE, BONKING and INTERCOURSE in our everyday conversation. We are fed a diet of NIPPLES in our newspapers and we watch BOTTOMS on our television screens. Yes, sex is here to stay. But what is it? Who does it, and why? And how long does it take?

These are just a few of the frank and forthright questions we will be asking as we launch the most comprehensive investigation ever into SEX. In six frank and forthright features we will leave no stone unturned. It will be the most shocking, revealing, and explicit sex survey carried out to date.

SEX

Over the next 6 issues we will talk about sex in a frank and open manner, to people who've had it, and to celebrities who you'd like to have it with. We'll be using words like BOOBS and BONKING, and we'll be printing lots of pictures of models posing in skimpy underwear.

SEX

And we'll ask YOU, the public, all about sex. We'll be out in the streets (unless it's raining), asking how often you do it.

who you do it with, where, how and when. We'll be talking to housewives and asking them ARE THEY GETTING ENOUGH? And we'll be asking their husbands to wildly exaggerate the number of women they've slept with in the past.

SEX

We'll also be talking to people who want sex banned, as well as people who simply can't get enough. And we'll go into pubs and nightclubs, have a few drinks, and try to have sex with the people we meet.

SEX

Have you had sex? Don't be afraid to talk about it. Write to us with frank and forthright details of your sexual experiences. Enclose illustrations if necessary, and don't be afraid to send us any old copies of pornographic magazines which you no longer require, or videos (VHS format).

Don't miss the first part of this sexual sex survey that's got the whole of Britain talking. It will open your eyes. It will shock you. And it will make you buy our February issue — because it doesn't actually start until then.

The chart where £££ talks

The Viz TOP 10

No 1	THE FLUFFIES Kidding Myself (From Chorley)	£13.37
2	HOWLIN' WILF & THE VEEJAYS Blue Men Sing The Whites (Waterfront)	£10.51
3	THE LA'S Way Out (Gol Discs)	£10.00
4	DEUS EX MACHINA (DEM) 'Mask' EP (D.E.M.)	£7.77
5	THE BIBLE FOR DOGS 'Einer Vane' EP (Timebox)	£7.50
6	RESISTANCE Another Nowhere Girl (Timebox)	£7.49
7	VARIOUS ARTISTS The Timebox Live LP (Timebox)	£7.48
8	THE SHAMEN Christopher Mayhew Says (Mokshaf)	£5.63
9	THE DELTAS 'Made For It' LP (ID)	£5.00
10	ENGINE Getting Away From It All (Beak Records)	£1.12

1 We received lorry loads of gifts towards this issue's chart — ranging from instant packet noodles to a 'Mr Potato Head' children's toy. But hardly surprisingly, it was a good old fashioned cheque that pipped the competition to the post. Chorley based From Chorley Records provided the £13.37 which financed THE FLUFFIES successful assault on the top slot. The single 'Kidding Myself' has no distribution as yet, but you can buy a copy by post for just £1.99 (including P & P). Send cheques or postal order payable to From Chorley Records, at 44 Hamilton Road, Chorley, Lancs., PR7 2DL. This could be your only chance to buy this superb collector's item, so send away today.

3 Go! Discs record label returns to the fray with an entry at No. 3 from their new signings THE LA'S. Will they follow in the footsteps of the stablemates Billy Bragg and The Housemartins who used the Viz Top Ten to launch themselves to showbiz stardom and glittering success on Top Of The Pops? Buy their single and see.

7 TIMEBOX records launched a triple pronged chart attack from their Kentish Town headquarters, backed by an artillery of gifts, among them cigars, clothing, records, books and a box of crayons. Spread between 3 records, it leaves the dynamic live music club and record label occupying a strong position in the middle of the chart. The Timebox presents live music 7 nights a week at The Bull & Gate pub, 389 Kentish Town Road, London NW3. Everyone in London should go there tonight, and bands looking for a gig in the capital should send a tape to that address. (Include a phone number). Keep an eye on the music listings for forthcoming Timebox events.

8 THE SHAMEN, a lively four-piece band from somewhere or other, decided to bolster our diet with a bumper selection of health foods, sunflower seeds and a packet of noodles. But this, together with a couple of records, only managed to propel their single 'Christopher Mayhew Says' as far as No. 8 in the chart.

The Viz Top Ten Chart is open to anyone with a record to promote, although books will also be included if accompanied by a sufficiently large sum of money. Sorry — no cassettes or fictitious records. To qualify you must send a copy of the record together with a bribe or gift. We prefer cash, although cheques and postal order (payee's name left blank) are also acceptable. Gifts, if we like them, will count at 75% of their estimated retail value. No details of any bribe will be released to a third party prior to publication. No refunds can be given. We reserve the right to deny all knowledge of this chart. Send your entries to The Viz Top Ten, PO Box 1PT, Newcastle upon Tyne NE99 1PT.

Shaky problem

We had scores of entries to our Shakin' Stevens Cheese/Weight Equivalent competition, in which we asked you to guess Shaky's weight, his favourite kind of cheese, and the price of a piece of that cheese weighing the same as Shaky himself. Unfortunately when we rang Shaky's record company to ask how heavy he is and what kind of cheese he likes, they wouldn't tell us. So we aren't able to award our prize - a £10 record token plus £15's worth of cheese - to anyone until we find out.

Why not find out for yourself which cheese Shaky prefers, and how much he weighs. Write to Epic Records, 17 Soho Square, London W1V 6HE. Remember to mark your envelopes "How Much Does Shakin' Stevens Weigh and What Kind of Cheese Does He Like".
